WATER IN PLACE OF STEAM.

MOUNTAIN STREAMS AT WAIANAE DO DOUBLE DUTY.

Installation of Electrical Power Plant to Operate Pumps Saves Money Expended Upon Coal.

Down at Waianae they are making mountain water do the work of coal and steam. The running water in the hills mauka of the plantation has been confined, with the result that the power of 500 horses has been gained by the plantation, and the water after doing the work is sent over the fields to irrigate the cane on the higher levels as before.

Upon the hills about there have been tunnels run to gather the water. The fluid is conducted to a twelve-inch main and goes to the water wheel in the little power house after falling 927 feet. At the point of issue, which is through a nozzle, one and a half inches in diameter, the water has a pressure of 410 pounds to the square inch. This pressure is sufficient to raise a 1200-pound weight, if placed on top of the nozzle. From the nozzle the water engages the cups of a large Pelton water wheel placed between two electric generators. The water after being used on the wheel takes its course over the fields.

The idea of placing generators on each side of the water wheel is a new one. It was part of the plan of F. J.
Cross, the electrician, who installed and worked out the scheme for having the water on the estate take the place of steam. This is the first time generators have been tried on each side of the water wheel and it was found to work successfully. From the generators the power, which is of 2200 volts, is taken to the motors in the pump house. The new 6,000,000 gallon Worthington pump has been connected directly with the motors by means of gearing, and has been working for a month successfully with the electric power. The old Rison 4,000,000 gallon pump has also been converted from a steam to an electric power pump and is giving just as much satisfaction as heretofore.

Where before the Rison pump was raising 4,000,000 gallons 80 feet the two pumps are now raising 10,000,000 150 feet.

To drive the Rison pump by steam it takes many tons of coal each day.
This item of expense is now done away with and the money spent in one year for coal will more than pay for the installation of the electrical plant.

Waianae plantation is fortunate in having been able to install this electrical system. Hardly any of the other plantations are so situated with regards to the supply of water that they could use it as a power.

The work of lowering the Rison pump to the level of the Worthington is now going on under the supervision of Manager Fred Meyers. He expects to have the whole completed in about sixty days. With the new supply of water it will be possible to greatly increase the acreage of cane on the plantation and Manager Meyers will have about 1200 acres planted this year.

Company F the Winners.

The boys of the police team, which shot against the team from the National Guard, feel disappointed over losing the match Saturday. Company F's boys are naturally elated over their success in carrying off the match. It is probable that the police team will ask for a return match, as some of their best men made remarkably poor scores at yesterday's shoot. The match was close, the military men winning by only 24 points.
Following are the individual scores, which were crowded out of Sunday's paper:

ON THE POWER OF THOUGHT.

ABLE ADDRESS DELIVERED BY DR. MARQUES LAST NIGHT.

No One Should Permit Himself to be Put Under Influences Stronger than he Possesses.

There was a good attendance at the Saturday meeting of the Theosophical Society that evening in Pythian Castle, several ladies being present.

Dr. A. Marques, President of the Aloha Branch and General Secretary of the Australian Section, who has recently returned from the Theosophical Convention of India, delivered a learned address on "The Power of Thought."

No one should ever permit himself to be put under the influence of those stronger than himself. No one should ever be a subject to mesmeric influences. Positive, invisible fluids surround our bodies and we should at all times throw off our weak thoughts.

People surrounded by the bacilli of disease can, by their thoughts of force, prevent becoming victims to the bacilli. We should aim to throw off all disagreeable thoughts. Bad dreams could be avoided on retiring by setting or fixing the mind, thus throwing off the threatened disagreeable thoughts into the positive invisible fluid that surrounds us. It was merely a question of vibration.

Our minds were easily prepared for impressions. The idea of prayer at the deathbed was to prepare the mind of the afflicted for the other and better world.

FALL OF THE BASTILLE.

Anniversary of the Event Celebrated by the French Consul.

Henri Motet, the French Consul at Honolulu, gave a luncheon at the con-sulate on Beretania street Saturday to celebrate the fall of the Bastille. The territorial land was in attendance and rendered its customary sweet music, not neglecting the Marsellaise. The guests present at the luncheon were the Rt. Rev. Gulstan, Bishop of Panopolis, Fathers Clement and Valentino, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Raas, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fortin, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Boyd, and Mr. A. De Cana-varro, the Portuguese consul.

POSTOFFICE BOYS GRUMBLE.

N w Men Get Fat Jobs—Old Timers

Think it is Wrong.

There is a roar from the boys of the Postoffice who have labored in the institution for several years. They feel that they have been discriminated against in the matter of appointments upstairs. There has not been any defined complaint as yet, but the men feel that those who have labored long and conscientiously in the letter department should have been given the first whack at the plums distributed upstairs in the money-order and registry department. Three men, entire strangers to the postoffice, were given the jobs upstairs at a salary of $40 per month more than the men in the letter department get, and on this account there is discontent and grumbling.

KUKAIAU PLANTATION

IMPROVED MACHINERY.

Wire-rope System of Transporting Cane—Bundling Machines and Mr.

Horne's New Style Cultivator.

The following of local interest was contributed to the Hilo Tribune of July 14 by its correspondent at Hamakua:

The wire-rope system of transporting the cane to the mill, which has been in use at the Kukaiu plantation for some years, is now so improved and perfected as to be classed among the most economical and permanent methods of transportation, and will eventually, we think, be largely used among most of the plantations of the islands. It requires a little more intelligence to manipulate this method of working, but there is nothing intricate about it, or anything more than an ordinary person can understand. It is especially useful in hilly countries, for long distances, and for broken land.
It is also of great advantage in wet weather, because the rain now does not interfere with the work or cause the mill to shut down. Bundling machines have also been made, which greatly facilitates the work, and trucks have been made especially for carrying the bundles to the wire, and which have also proved a great improvement over carrying them by hand. There is now no more trouble with the wire rope coming off the supports, or the bundles stopping or catching anywhere, excepting on rare occasions.

It is also found that the bundles will run at a 4 per cent grade, by using larger wheels; and that the work can be dispatched much more rapidly and at less cost than it could be done last year, or by hauling the cane in wagons.
The new style cultivator, designed by Mr. A. Horner, has proved to be a great improvement over the old style, as it not only does far better work, but leaves less work to be done with the hoe. This cultivator not only roots up all of the weeds, grass, etc., but burys them under ground as well. The new style furrower that has been built at the Kukaiu mill has proved a great improvement, as has also the Arud's patent automatic combination testing apparatus. This machine is to the furnace what the steam engine indicator is to the engine, and shows just as plainly what is being done in the furnace, as the indicator shows what is being done in the cylinder of the engine. The advantage of the machine can be appreciated when it is stated that the amount of the carbonic acid gas has been increased from 10 per cent, c o 2, to 14 per cent, c o 2, which means a great saving of fuel.

The new method of double pressing the mud is also a great improvement, as the amount of sucrose in the mud has been reduced from 7 to less than 1 per cent. And this juice is still further diluted, making it less than a half of 1 per cent, when it is used for macera-tion. There are also quite a number of other new devices seen at this mill.
One is for holding the sugar, one for washing the mud press bags, one for automatically firing the furnaces and another for feeding the cane-carrier with cane. All of which save quite a number of men.
